TURKISH JOURNAL OF TRAUMATIC STRESS

Volume 1, Number 3, September 2025

e-ISSN: 3062-2336

About the journal

The Turkish Journal of Traumatic Stress (TJTS) is a peer-reviewed, open-access scholarly journal committed to advancing knowledge in the field of psychological trauma and its multifaceted impacts on individuals, communities, and societies. The journal prioritizes the dissemination of high-quality empirical research, clinical practices, and theoretical contributions across various disciplines, including psychiatry, psychology, neuroscience, social work, and public health. Particular emphasis is placed on exploring the cultural, societal, and environmental dimensions that shape trauma experiences and their outcomes. Dedicated to fostering interdisciplinary dialogue and promoting evidence-based interventions, TJTS seeks to serve as a platform for global academic contributions, with a special focus on studies originating from Turkey and its surrounding regions. By highlighting culturally sensitive approaches and strategies for resilience, the journal aims to address the complexities of trauma in diverse contexts. Adhering to the highest ethical and scientific standards, TJTS welcomes original research articles, comprehensive reviews, case reports, and expert commentaries for publication.
